

Lubbock Homeschool Christian Athletic Association

LHCAA

What is LHCAA? We are an organization supporting competitive athletic opportunities for homeschoolers in the South Plains area. (See our Mission Statement below) We come alongside families and coaches to assist in organization, fund raising, and communication.

What does LHCAA offer? Currently we offer boys and girls basketball, track and girls volleyball.

Will more sports be added? We hope to have more sports available in the future. We are a parent-based organization. If you are an individual interested in organizing an individual or team sport, please contact us.

Who do you compete against? We play other homeschoolers, private schools and public schools. Our teams compete locally in the High Plains Christian Athletic Association. Some of our teams also compete regionally and nationally in tournaments.

How much does it cost? Annual membership is $15/family for LHCAA. Each sport played then charges the athlete(s) the cost to cover uniforms, supplies, facilities rental, etc - incurred. These costs vary by sport.

Lubbock Home School Athletic Association Mission Statement

To God's glory and as ambassadors for Christ, out of love for our children, we desire to organize homeschool athletics in order to promote Godly character, excellence, and witness; and to provide the South Plains area homeschool athletics an association with structure for accountability, direction and communication, so athletics for homeschoolers can grow and thrive in a positive way.
